Dear Sir/Madam,

World Food Day 2022 Brochure and Children's Activity Book for the Children of your area

World Food Day 2022 is being marked in a year with multiple global challenges including the ongoing pandemic, conflict, climate change, rising prices and international tensions. All of this is affecting global food security. It's time to work together and create a better, more sustainable future for all. This year we are celebrating World Food Day 2022 (WFD 2022) with the theme: Leave NO ONE Behind. Better production, better nutrition, a better environment, and a better life.

FAO Bangladesh is delighted to share two documents for your kind information. One is the WFD 2022 Brochure and the other one is WFD 2022 Children's Activity Book. The brochure provides a brief overview of FAO's work with countries and other partners (Governments, the private sector, individuals and other sectors) to make our agrifood systems more efficient, inclusive, resilient and sustainable, leaving no one behind.

Children's Activity Book will help to find out how children (of Class I-XII) can take action and be part of the change. On page 4, it describes WFD 2022 Poster Competition for the children where they are encouraged to design a poster showing us their ideas for World Food Day. Through their paintings children can represent a world where no one is left behind, where there is healthy food for everyone. For detail, please check the website: www.fao.org/world-food-day/contest. The submission deadline is 4 November 2022. Three winners from each age group will receive a certificate and a surprise gift bag and will be mentioned on the World Food Day website and FAO social media channels.

We, therefore, request you to share these documents and encourage the children of your area to participate in the competition, so that each and every one can work and contribute to build a better future.

Thank you.

Yours Sincerely,

Robert D. Simpson
